

TEPUY
COLLECTIVE

Tepuy collective is a series of carefully curated pop-up dinners and events around the world that bring together women who share a passion for creativity and all things food.

Our goal is to create a global community of purposeful women to collaborate and support each other in pursuit of their craft

OUR MISSION

- Provide paid opportunities for women, specially minorities in the food industry by collaborating with brands, creatives and corporations
- Creating an inclusive culture where men are welcome but women are leading.
- Raising awareness + education around the food industry and entrepreneurship
- Creating exposure, which will lead to additional work opportunities.

TEPUY COLLECTIVE TOUR 2019

Throughout the 2019 tour, we will be joining forces with like-minded women in the industry, collaborating with chefs, winemakers, artists and amazing creatives in more than ten cities around the world

FOUNDER

Adriana is a Venezuelan chef, culinary consultant and women advocate who believes cooking is a form of self-expression that brings people together and elevates the human spirit.

With a natural eye for design, Adriana brings flavors and colors into thoughtful and creative dishes infused by her Latin American roots and inspired by her time spent in some of the world's most innovative kitchens.

Driven by her mission of empowering others to pursue their craft, Adriana founded Tepuy — a series of pop-up dinners and events around the world that bring together women who are equally passionate about food. Her goal is to create a global community of purposeful women to collaborate and support each other.

Adriana also supports other meaningful causes that promote immigration reform, women's rights, and provides aid to those in need in her home country of Venezuela.

Get Involved

We would love to work with brands and organizations aligned with our mission and hope to establish partnerships by:

- Using Tepuy Collective for events requiring food + beverage
- Co-producing events in alignment with Tepuy Collective + the client's goals
- Creating campaigns highlighting + featuring the woman of Tepuy Collective
- Uplifting Tepuy Collective message through external and internal channels
- Monetary sponsorships + collaborations

Thank you for your interest in supporting us!
